A GIANT STEP

Moved by the large turn-out for the ground-breaking on a rainy Monday morning Eddie Kamps gathered his thoughts and the following is the 1st paragraph.

"On October the Twenty-Third in Seventy Two we were gathered together 'neath soggy skies a momentous deed we'd come to do and the thoughts of the act shown through our eyes. The rain-drops dripped as we gathered 'round and the architect slipped on the muddy ground. A short solemn prayer and the deed was done the ground was broken - we had begun."

Wunnerful, Wunnerful, as Lawrence Welk would say. Now, as our treasurer, Ray would say - let's get those pledges in and vigorously go after some more. P.S. the coffee and donuts by Mildred W. Gibbs were muchly appreciated.
