MAYBASKETS

Two thousand and fifty bits of gorgeous color came to Ellsworth in the forms of Maybaskets. This year with Easter so late many of them went as Easter baskets bunnies and all? Well done ladies.

RUMMAGE SALE

And FOOD SALE June 13th at Odd Fellows Hall. Doors open at 9 a.m. Things may be brought to the hall the afternoon of the 12th or bright and early before 9 on the 13th. Or, Ruth Royal will hold the materials if you get them to her anytime.

MARDEN DUNBAR

Most of you know that Marden suffered a stroke while visiting in Iowa. His son is to drive out on the 17th to see if he can be brought home. We sincerely hope so for him and Carrie.

WON'T BE LONG

The carpenters are all through. The electrician and plumber is waiting for the odd pieces of this and that before he can finish installing his things.

Decisions yet to be made: carpeting, painting, landscaping. Chairs have been bought and ready. Stove, refrigerator, sink can go in any time.

THE DEDICATION

We hope to get in by middle of June. Tentatively Sunday July 1st is the date for the dedication. This means that our good friends the ministers who summer in the area and have given freely of their time will be available for our thanks as well as all the others who have helped make this dream possible.

Speaking of chairs the treasurer Ray reminds us that many of the congregation already have purchased one or more chairs at 7:50 each. You won't have to stand (long) if you don't but it helps. Ray is accepting contributions!

EASTER FLOWERS

In church were in memory of:

Mr and Mrs. Joseph Neally
Mr. Neal A Raymond
Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Raymond
Mr. Edwin E. Royal
Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Royal

DISCUSSION GROUP

Final meeting May 31st to make plans for next year. Time and place later.

MINISTER RESIGNS

At the annual meeting Mr. Gibbs announced that he plans to retire on August 1st. They (and Brenda) will move to Greenfield Mass. where the family relatives live.

Moses was allowed to look at the promised land but Aaron took the Israelites on in. This Moses looks at our lovely new church and wishes Aaron well.
