JULY WORSHIP SERVICES

SUNDAY, JULY 7, 2024

Multi-Platform Worship at 10:30am "Weaving Our Lives" 2024 General Assembly Sunday Worship Service

Rev. Molly Housh Gordon, Worship Leader Rev. Sara Hayman, Hosting

Come to church today and experience this year's General Assembly Worship Service that was led by UU Minister, Rev. Molly Housh Gordon with support from several of her UU colleagues serving congregations across the county. In this spirited service, we're reminded that we're all tangled up together in a great web of life that's woven with beauty and hardship, love and loss, thriving and struggle. Given this reality, how do we tend well to the weaving so that all of us are held in care?

Following this worship service, Rev. Sara invites folks attending in person to stay and participate in a Congregation Conversation about this year's General Assembly, particularly the passing of proposed changes to Article Two of our UUA Bylaws that expresses our faith's purpose and values and inspirations. All are welcome!

Multi-Platform Worship at 10:30am The Most Important Thing Rev. Jacquie Robb, Guest Worship Leader Kay Wilkins, Worship Associate

Storytelling began long ago, with our ancestors sitting around the safety of an open fire on moonlit nights, recalling the events of the day or the year. We still tell stories to one another and in our own minds. And if we are paying attention, we'll notice that some of our life stories contain moments of grace where we are gifted with wisdom or love and understanding. What themes do you see emerging from your life stories? What do your stories convey about what is most important in your life?

Rev. Jacquie Robb, BCC, grew up in New England, mostly outdoors. In her early 20s, she moved to downeast Maine, her first "chosen home," where the land became a primary relationship. Visiting friends in California, she ended up staying of many decades in various roles including life partner, nonprofit administrator, bookstore owner, hospice volunteer and retirement community chaplain. She returned to Maine in 2020 and makes her home in Belfast cohousing with two cats and a large garden. She is a member of the UUCBelfast.

Multi-Platform Worship at 10:30am

Empty bowl Jeff Jeude, Guest Worship Leader Kathy Hall, Worship Associate

Singer/ songwriter Jenny Van West remembers a large wooden bowl that rested near the door in her childhood home, a receptacle and depository for life's tidbits that are parts of our busy lives. Maybe you, too, have such a bowl. Bowls, and all they contain and disperse, can be metaphorical of a well lived life. What do we put in, what do we share with others, what remains in the bowl at the end of a day? Jenny's lyrics suggest, "Just be an empty bowl, let life fill you up, No need to overthink it, because life is enough." Come join us as we explore our life's "bowls".

Jeff Jeude first came to UUCE to serve 3 years as Church Administrator. We're fortunate he continues to be a friend and active and loving volunteer in our community in lots of ways. Jeff is a gifted preacher and served as a licensed preacher at the United Methodist Church in Winter Harbor. Before moving to Maine with his wife Jill, Jeff was an active lay leader in their church in Missouri.

Multi-Platform Worship at 10:30am Vade Mecum: A Pilgrim's Spiritual Practice Rev. Sara Hayman, Worship Leader Karen Volckhausen, Worship Associate

In our UU faith tradition, there is no single sacred text from which we draw inspiration and wisdom as we aspire to faithfully live our values and principles. Drawing inspiration from an ancient spiritual practice called vade mecum, in this service worship leaders will share the meaning of particular sacred texts or other spiritual sources in their lives. What sacred texts most deeply speak to and nurture your soul's longings?

FROM OUR BOARD PRESIDENT BETH PEPPER

Hello from Virginia - home of my new grandson! I think you heard we were going to be grandmothers, didn't you? Well, we are! To the most wonderful little bundle of joy!

July is the start of our new church fiscal year, which means we say good-bye to our departing Board members, Alison Stephens and Kathy Hall. Alison and Kathy, thank you both so much for your hard work, leadership, and service on the Board. July also means we welcome our new Board members, Kate O'Dell (treasurer) and Jana Robinson (member-at-large). Kate and Jana, welcome! I look forward to working with both of you. And to Bob Francis, thank you for serving a second term as our Secretary. It's great that we get to retain your experience and leadership.

July also sees Barb Acosta stepping down from chairing the Peace and Social Action (PASA) Ministry. Barb (and the PASA team) have done outstanding work over the past 3 years under Barb's leadership and I thank you for your care and dedication to PASA.

Thank you to all who contributed - in big or little ways - to this year's yard sale SUPER success! [eff Jeude took over the helm as Leader of the (Yard Sale) Pack and led us to a fun-filled, hard-working, community-building, goal-busting blast! We made $9257 - wow! That's $1700+ over the goal! Thank you, Jeff and all your minions!

Congratulations to REVEREND Vanessa Titang, newly ordained UU minister! And thank you to all who made her ordination the wonderful event that it was, especially Anne Ossanna, chair of the ordination committee.

UU GENERAL ASSEMBLY SUMMARY. This year's GA's theme was Love Unites, Stories Ignite and was entirely virtual, occurring on June 20-23. Rev. Sara, Barb Acosta and Jana Robinson attended as delegates of UUCE. In addition to the multiple opportunities to share worship, music and learning together, this year's session included votes on the revised Article II of the bylaws, three different Articles of Immediate Witness, and a shared resolution—all approved, as well as electing various new national leadership members.

The GA assembly approved the adoption of the proposed revision to Article II of the bylaws, the section defining the UU values and principles. The new language follows:

GENERAL ASSEMBLY REVISION TO ARTICLE II

Article II Purposes and Covenant Section C-2.1. Purposes.

The Unitarian Universalist Association will devote its resources to and use its organizational powers for religious, educational, and humanitarian purposes. Its primary purposes are:

- to assist congregations in their vital ministries,
- to support and train leaders both lay and professional,
- to foster lifelong faith formation and spiritual development,
- to heal historic injustices,
- to support and encourage the creation of new Unitarian Universalist communities, and
- to advance our Unitarian Universalist values in the world.

The Unitarian Universalist Association will actively engage its members in the transformation of the world through liberating Love.

Section C-2.2. Values and Covenant.

As Unitarian Universalists, we covenant, congregation-to-congregation and through our Association, to support and assist one another in our ministries. We draw from our heritages of freedom, reason, hope, and courage, building on the foundation of love.

Love is the power that holds us together and is at the center of our shared values. We are accountable to one another for doing the work of living our shared values through the spiritual discipline of Love.

Inseparable from one another, these shared values are:

Shared Unitarian Universalist Values

Image Description: This image is of a chalice with an overlay of the word Love over the flame, with six outstretched arms that create a circle around each of the core values and form a six-petal flower shape. Each arm is a different color, and clockwise they are: Interdependence (Orange), Equity (Red), Transformation (Purple), Pluralism (Blue), Generosity (Green), and Justice (Yellow). [Suggested shift to Rule and recommended edits] The UUA may create visual representations of the values, which put love at the center and interconnect each value, and may periodically update that image. A version of this image shall be included, with image description, after "Shared Unitarian Universalist Values" in the published version of the bylaws.

Interdependence. We honor the interdependent web of all existence. With reverence for the great web of life and with humility, we acknowledge our place in it.

We covenant to protect Earth and all beings from exploitation. We will create and nurture sustainable relationships of care and respect, mutuality and justice. We will work to repair harm and damaged relationships.

Pluralism. We celebrate that we are all sacred beings, diverse in culture, experience, and theology.

We covenant to learn from one another in our free and responsible search for truth and meaning. We embrace our differences and commonalities with Love, curiosity, and respect.

Justice. We work to be diverse multicultural Beloved Communities where all thrive.

We covenant to dismantle racism and all forms of systemic oppression. We support the use of inclusive democratic processes to make decisions within our congregations, our Association, and society at large.

Transformation. We adapt to the changing world.

We covenant to collectively transform and grow spiritually and ethically. Openness to change is fundamental to our Unitarian and Universalist heritages, never complete and never perfect.

Generosity. We cultivate a spirit of gratitude and hope.

We covenant to freely and compassionately share our faith, presence, and resources. Our generosity connects us to one another in relationships of interdependence and mutuality.

Equity. We declare that every person has the right to flourish with inherent dignity and worthiness.

We covenant to use our time, wisdom, attention, and money to build and sustain fully accessible and inclusive communities.

Section C-2.3. Inspirations.

Direct experiences of transcending mystery and wonder are primary sources of Unitarian Universalist inspiration. These experiences open our hearts, renew our spirits, and transform our lives. We draw upon, and are inspired by, sacred, secular, and scientific understandings that help us make meaning and live into our values. These sources ground us and sustain us in ordinary, difficult, and joyous times. We respect the histories, contexts, and cultures in which these sources were created and are currently practiced. Grateful for the experiences that move us, aware of the religious ancestries we inherit, and enlivened by the diversity which enriches our faith, we are called to ever deepen and expand our wisdom.

Section C-2.4. Inclusion.

Systems of power, privilege, and oppression have traditionally created barriers for persons and groups with particular identities, ages, abilities, and histories. We pledge to replace such barriers with ever-widening circles of solidarity and mutual respect. We strive to be an Association of congregations that truly welcome all persons who share our values. We commit to being an Association of congregations that empowers and enhances everyone's participation, especially those with historically marginalized identities.

Section C-2.5. Freedom of belief.

Congregational freedom and the individual's right of conscience are central to our Unitarian Universalist heritage.

Congregations may establish statements of purpose, covenants, and bonds of union so long as they do not require that members adhere to a particular creed

The General Assembly also approved three actions of immediate witness and one responsive resolution:

- AIW: World on Fire: Humanitarian Work and Climate Change
- AIW: Centering Love Amidst the Ongoing Impact of COVID-19
- AIW: Solidarity with Palestinians
- Responsive Resolution: UUA GA Support for October 7 Hostages

For more information about what happened at the General Assembly, see UU World.

In anticipation of questions congregational members might have about what approval of Article II means, the 8th Principle Task Force and Rev. Sara will be working together to respond to any questions members might have. We'll continue to share information on Facebook, in the weekly e-news, NUUS, and in person and on the community room bulletin boards. In the meantime, please contact Jana Robinson with any questions, janasmith.robinson@outlook.com."

SANKOFA CORNER

The Dole Family: Art, Marj, & Barb

Arthur Alexander Dole Jr. was born on Oct. 25, 1917 in San Francisco to Arthur Alexander Dole Sr. and Ella Elizabeth "Betty" Duncan. "Art" was an only child. He came from a long line of preachers, including his great-grandfather, Rev. Nathan Dole, his great-greatgrandfather, Deacon Wigglesworth Dole, and his great-grandfather's brother, Rev. Charles Fletcher Dole who frequently preached at the First Unitarian Society of Ellsworth (FUSE), an earlier phase of our own UUCE. On April 13, 1999, in a speech that he delivered at Wilmington College, Art stated that he was a "Cultural Christian," "one quarter Unitarian, one quarter Quaker...I give them money, but I don't join anything."

Rev. Charles Fletcher Dole

Art attended secondary school at Phillips Exeter Academy in New Hampshire. These were the Depression years, and his family was not wealthy. He took whatever jobs he could find, including serving as a waiter in Exeter. In 1936, he began a year of study at Harvard College, receiving a tuition scholarship of $250 per term. When World War II broke out, the US military started drafting recruits. Partly influenced by his Quaker friends, Art declared himself a war resistor and paid a heavy price for his beliefs, including at least two stints in prison during the war. He eventually continued his college career at Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Ohio where he majored in psychology and received his Bachelor's degree in 1946. He went on to get his Master's degree from THE Ohio State University in Columbus in psychology.

Marjorie Elizabeth Welsh was born on August 9, 1924 in Grinnell, Iowa to Harvey Albertus Welsh and Margaret Hunt Lowrey. "Marj" was also an only child. At the age of one, her family moved to Cherrydale, Virginia, now part of Arlington. There, she attended John Quincy Adams Elementary School, then went to Western High School in Washington, DC. She was also a Unitarian and attended All Souls Church in Washington.

Marj started her college career at Grinnell College, back in Iowa, then transferred to Antioch College where she majored in biology, graduating in 1946. She then began graduate school, also at THE Ohio State University, working towards a Master's degree in microbiology. During the summers of 1946 and 1947, she participated in a program sponsored by the Jackson Lab in Bar Harbor.

Art, about to begin his Master's degree in psychology at OSU, spent the summer of 1947 in Southwest Harbor, staying with his father's cousin Winifred (Dole) Mann, wife of Horace Mann, grandson of THE Horace Mann. He called her "Aunt Win." When both Art and Marj returned (separately) to Columbus, a former Antioch classmate suggested that Art move into the Pinedale Co-op. "It's a bargain. And you'll meet some interesting people." Well, Art described one of those interesting people as "a svelte nymph in a bathing suit." He asked a friend, "Who's that?" "That's Marjorie Welsh. She's the housemother," and they started to date.

Well, one thing led to another, and BOOM!, they were engaged. On a very cold January evening, Art took Marj to the biggest department store in Columbus and told Marj to "Pick out the biggest, most expensive ring." The next day her colleagues at the Battelle Institute, where she was working doing microbiological experimentation, "shrilled in unison, 'Oooh, what an expensive diamond! He must be loaded.'" Years later, Art wrote, "Today we keep that engagement ring in our safe deposit box...And our secret is that it cost a quarter at Woolworth's."

Art and Marj got married at her parents' home in Sterling, Virginia on March 19, 1949. They then returned to Columbus where Art eventually finished his MA in psychology, and later obtained his PhD in counseling psychology in 1951. But they had no sooner arrived back in Columbus after the wedding when a major surprise awaited him: he had contracted polio. He was treated for eight weeks in Children's Hospital in Columbus and was fitted with a brace on his right leg, and with practice and determination, he began to walk again. As he was finishing his dissertation, he received a number of job offers, one of which was from the University of Hawaii, and that's the one he chose, mostly because of his right leg. He figured: "A tropical climate and sandy beaches might speed up my rehab." So, in 1951 Art was hired to head up the counseling program at the University of Hawaii at Manoa, on Oahu. The couple moved there and ended up staying in Hawaii for 15 years. While there, they had three children. They adopted Peter in 1952, then had Steve in 1954 and Barbara in 1956. Marj was employed at the Le'ahi Hospital in Honolulu where she was working processing specimens. She also did work at a children's hospital and at the University of Hawaii. Art also did some teaching at the UoH. Beginning about 1963, the family would return to Maine during the summers, staying with Aunt Win. Barb was quite taken with her "two islands:" Hawaii and MDI.

About 1966, the family moved back "stateside," first to Palisades, New York for a year where Art taught at the City College of New York (CCNY). Then in 1967 they moved to Philadelphia where Art became a professor of education in the Graduate School of Education at UPenn, the University of Pennsylvania. He also became chair of the department. Marj spent a year engaged in research which led to the creation of a pneumococcal vaccine. Marj then became the director of microbiology at Pennsylvania Hospital, the oldest hospital in the United States, founded in 1751 by Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Bond. She did this work for 15 years.

Throughout the time they lived in the suburbs of Philadelphia, the Doles would spend their summers in Maine, staying with Aunt Win until she passed in 1978, and then every summer after. While here, they used to come to UUCE to see Aunt Win's son-in-law, Rev. Harry Meserve, preach, and they were familiar faces in the congregations during the pastorates of Rev. Charles Stephens and Rev. Mark Worth. In 1992, right after Art joined the "25-Year Club" at UPenn, he and Marj finally decided to retire and move to Maine. After a lot of searching, they found the ideal house on the banks of the Jordan River in Trenton.

After moving to Maine, Art, always the educator, became involved in the Acadia Senior College program. From 2001 to 2003, he offered a course called "The Power of Non-Violence," and for several years moderated a class on "Current Events" which dealt with politics, health care, the economy, what have you. Many of these classes were held at the Birch Bay Village Inn in Hulls Cove where Art and Marj eventually moved to.

Art passed away on May 16, 2017. Marj, who will be turning 100 on August 9, still lives at Birch Bay where I interviewed her a week ago on June 21. Barb is now a vibrant part of our congregation. In the spirit of Art's terrible puns, this family has "doled" out a "welsh" of blessings to our community.

UNITARIAN UNIVERSALISM'S 6 SOURCES

The living tradition which we share draws from many sources:

- Direct experience of that transcending mystery and wonder, affirmed in all cultures, which moves us to a renewal of the spirit and an openness to the forces which create and uphold life;
- Words and deeds of prophetic people which challenge us to confront powers and structures of evil with justice, compassion, and the transforming power of love;
- 3. Wisdom from the world's religions which inspires us in our ethical and spiritual life;
- Jewish and Christian teachings which call us to respond to God's love by loving our neighbors as ourselves;
- 5. Humanist teachings which counsel us to heed the guidance of reason and the results of science, and warn us against idolatries of the mind and spirit;
- 6. Spiritual teachings of earth-centered traditions which celebrate the sacred circle of life and instruct us to live in harmony with the rhythms of nature.

UNITARIAN UNIVERSALISM'S 7 PRINCIPLES

We, the member congregations of the Unitarian Universalist Association, covenant to affirm and promote:

- 1. The inherent worth and dignity of every person;
- 2. Justice, equity and compassion in human relations;
- 3. Acceptance of one another and encouragement to spiritual growth in our congregations;
- 4. A free and responsible search for truth and meaning;
- The right of conscience and the use of the democratic process within our congregations and in society at large;
- 6. The goal of world community with peace, liberty, and justice for all;
- 7. Respect for the interdependent web of all existence of which we are a part.

UUCE'S AFFIRMATION OF COVENANT

Love is the spirit of this church, and service its law; this is our great covenant: to dwell together in peace, to seek the truth in love, and to help one another.
